Anya Brych is headed to UMass Chan - Baystate for a residency in psychiatry after graduating from UConn School of Medicine this May.

- Anya graduated from UConn in 2018 as an Honors Scholar with a BS in BIOL and minors in MCB and PNB.
- While at UConn, she was involved in the Ukrainian Student Association, Swing and Blues, Gamma Sigma Sigma, and was a TA for biochemistry.
- During her growth year, she was a medical scribe for a breast oncology surgeon and a Kaplan MCAT tutor.
- She loves hanging out with her cat (Stinky), cooking vegan dishes, listening to true crime podcasts, and thrifting.
- She is proud to be a first-generation immigrant (Ukrainian-American)!

Reneé Taylor is a first-year medical student at UConn School of Medicine interested in either Family or General Internal Medicine.

- Reneé moved to the US in 2016 from Jamaica, where she started her undergrad career at UConn Waterbury.
- In 2019, she graduated with a Bachelor's in MCB.
- While at UConn, she was involved with student government, AHEC Collegiate Health Corps, and the West Indian Student Association.
- After college, she did research in Breast Medical Oncology at Yale for a few years.
- At UConn SoM, she is a UConn HCOP Scholar, 2023-2024 SNMA UConn Chapter Secretary, and a CT AHEC/Urban Service Track Scholar.
- Her hobbies include anything hands-on: baking, cooking, painting, and (recently) sewing!

Olivia Babick is a first-year medical student at the University of Maryland School of Medicine pursuing an MD/MPH in Global Health.

- Olivia graduated from UConn in 2021 with a degree in AHS and a minor in Environmental Economics and Policy.
- While at UConn, she was involved with the Academic Achievement Center and the Korey Stringer Institute. She also worked as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) throughout college.
- During her gap year, she worked as a research assistant at Hartford Hospital's Clinical Cancer Office.
- She loves to hike or try out the Baltimore food scene when she has free time.
